12/3/2012

Beginning December 3, 2012, doctors of chiropractic can register to take the examination required for listing on the National Registry of Certified Medical Examiners. The first exam will be delivered December 17, 2012.

Cost of the exam from PSI, which has 260 centers, will be $79.00.

TRAINING

To be eligible to sit for the exam, the DC must first complete a training program that meets the federation requirements. At this time, and to the best available knowledge of the FCLB, there are two chiropractic-specific training programs that qualify:

Doctors of chiropractic may also take training from non-chiropractic programs as the examination is identical for examiners who are licensed by any of the five qualifying professions.

December 3, 2012, PSI Services LLC (PSI), FMCSA's first approved test delivery organization, begins on-line scheduling for the National Registry of Certified Medical Examiners certification test.

The first available date to sit for the exam will be December 17, 2012. PSI has 260 test centers throughout the United States. To locate a test center near you, please visit the National Registry website at https://nationalregistry.fmcsa.dot.gov. To register to take the exam you must access the PSI website https://candidate.psiexams.com/

To be eligible to take the exam you must:

- Be licensed, certified, or registered in accordance with applicable State laws and regulations to perform physical examinations;
- Log onto the National Registry System and receive a unique identifier; and
- Complete requisite training.

Be sure to take the following with you to the test center:

- Valid Picture ID;
- Valid license to practice in your healthcare profession;
- Certificate of completion of training provided by an accredited training organization; and
- National Registry Number.

Remember: Register on December 3, 2012, for the National Registry Certification Exam.
